NOTIFIED

Mr. McKinley is Now a Full Fledged Candidate for Re-election as President.

ACCEPTS THE HONOR TODAY

BE NO WELCOME TO DELEGATIONS

CANTON, Ohio, July 12.—This was the day set for the notification committee named by the Philadelphia convention to advise President McKinley of his selection for re-election as the nation's chief executive. It has been a most propitious day, pretty weather prevailing, and this fact and the interesting event have drawn to the city many people. The event is the second kind to occur here in another red-letter day in the town's political history. The notification committee arrived at 11 o'clock forenoon on a special train from Cleveland and from the depot to the McKinley home, accompanied by clubs, bands and throngs of people, jammed the streets. Constant cheers filled the air as the parade moved and the music was lost to all except those near. The decorations along the line of march were grand, though other sections were not neglected. A large tent as a reception hall was a feature and attracted much attention.

From the porch of his beloved cottage home Mr. McKinley heard Senator Lodge's speech of notification—a most glowing one—and answered in accepting the high honor in a keynote address which plainly outlines the campaign of the Republicans this year.

Mr. McKinley spoke at length of the currency, saying the Republicans stood for honest money now as formerly. He declared the country had a safe gold standard law and said the people must again unite to defeat the repudiationists, who were repeating efforts of four years ago to pull down the stability of the country's finances.

Mr. McKinley spoke with great pride of the progress made in insular affairs and the country's business at home and abroad. In mentioning the troubles in China he said that every effort would be made to protect Americans in that land and our interests and safeguard our treaty rights. He declared the Republican administration had nothing to apologize for and had with great credit and unknown pathos, but being guided by honor and duty ever what had been done had redounded in credit and honor. In accepting the high honor a second time conferred upon him he declared as president of the United States he would continue in the future as in the past to perform with honesty every national and international obligation. Mr. McKinley was often loudly cheered by his hearers.

The committee of notification was languished after the speech making by Mr. McKinley. Though it is likely Mr. McKinley will at once return to Washington, to straighten out Chinese matters, he will, it is said, return after a few days, it being settled that he is to spend the summer and up to the close of the national canvass here. And while President McKinley will largely give way to Candidate McKinley still the country will not be for a moment forgotten.

The campaign of 1900 in Canton will not be a duplicate of the campaign of 1896. President McKinley will not make speeches to delegates who may visit Canton, even if he should remain here all the time. He says that four years ago he was private citizen and the candidate of his party and felt justified in taking an active part in the campaign. Now he is president and feels that he should give his attention to the many questions of government. He will not make speeches from the front porch to visiting delegations.

GENERAL PALMER

Says "True Democrats" Will Hold a Convention and Name a Ticket.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—General John M. Palmer, Gold Democratic candidate for president in 1896, gave out the following signed statement today:

"Mr. Bryan, it is reported, insisted upon the Kansas City convention committing itself to the 16 to 1 tally in order to preserve his record for consistency. He insisted upon it in order to satisfy the silver states. By the term 'silver states' I mean those which have silver bullion to sell and desire its value to be enhanced. 'If Mr. Bryan succeeds at all, it will be by debauching the Democratic party and persuading them that silver bullion can be advanced to the price of gold, and converting the party to Populism.'"

"The 'Democrats' will have a convention and will have a ticket in the field."
JOHN M. PALMER.

NO DEVELOPMENT

There are no new developments in the daring train robbery near Wickliffe yesterday morning.

A telephone message from Wickliffe this morning stated that several railroad and express detectives have been in the vicinity looking for the robbers.

It is learned that after getting into their boat near Fort Jefferson, the robbers crossed in a small island in the Mississippi and divided their booty.

They then floated down and left the boat near the M. and O. railroad, the last seen of them being as they were going south on the railroad. About the only two who can be described are the tall man with grey mustache and the young man with light mustache.

The robbers used dynamite in escaping the safe. Hicker, the messenger, came out of the affair with four bullet holes in his hat. The fireman was beaten on the head by one of the robbers, because he would not run the engine to Wickliffe for them.

After the robbery the flagman started back to flag a train due from the south, and the robbers shot his lantern out of his hand.

The engine of the first section flagged the robbers to permit him to return and signal the second section to save the lives of passengers.

"If you move from this spot," one of the robbers said, "we'll flag you into hell." The brakeman hurried away and rushed down the track at full speed, resolved to flag the train behind. The robbers leveled their pistols and fired several shots. One bullet penetrated his hat. He lay down as though dead, crawled a short distance and then ran again. His bravery saved the lives of the passengers, for it was his signal that stopped the second section.

KENTUCKY ELKS.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12.—The grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks elected the following officers:

Grand Secretary—George A. Reynolds, Saginaw, Mich.

Grand Treasurer—Edmund Orris, Meadville, Pa.

Both the secretary and treasurer have served six years and were elected without opposition. The selection of the next place of meeting will be made later. The only two places so far mentioned for the next meeting are Richmond, Va., and Milwaukee.

The Republican State Convention.

LOUISVILLE, July 12.—It is now said that ex-Gov. Bradley will place Judge Yerkes in nomination before the state Republican convention to be held next week. In this event John Marshall will be temporary chairman and Judge Barr permanent chairman.

The Republican Convention.

The Republican county convention Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m. should not be forgotten. A large crowd is expected to participate and send an enthusiastic delegation to the Louisville convention on the 17th inst.

Wedding at Hopkinsville.

HOPKINSVILLE, July 12.—L. C. Dewberry and Miss Maude Lamber Owen, daughter of Andrew E. Owen, of Trigg county, were married here by Rev. R. O. Duval, of the Methodist church.

LI CHANG

Has Been Called to Peking Presumably to Appease the Powers Later On.

IT BELIES SAFETY RUMORS

JAPAN IS SENDING OVER AN ARMY

LONDON, July 12.—According to the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent, Li Chang has received an imperial decree ordering his immediate departure for Peking, presumably to break the news of the Peking tragedy to the European powers and in his naval role of negotiator with Europe in difficult matters to endeavor to act as mediator and to avert the vengeance of the powers. To add to the grimness of this suggestion, all advice from Tien Tsin tend to confirm the perilous condition of the allied forces and belie the optimistic Chinese rumors. The Russian papers report that the Boxers are ravaging Manchuria and have damaged 60 miles of the railway, threatening Tsin and Kirin, while Port Arthur and New Chwang are said to be endangered. Russia, therefore, has notified the powers of her intention to dispatch a large military force to Manchuria.

LONDON, July 12.—Nothing but pessimistic intelligence now comes from China. It is now known that the Chinese hear from officials in Peking, but nothing is received direct from the foreigners besieged within that capital. This fact is regarded as proof of the reported slaughter and contumacious of the Chinese claims that all is well with the besieged.

The fighting about Tien Tsin continues and the allied forces are so hard pressed it is feared they will have to retire from the city if they have not already done so. The absence of definite reports from these forces is quite discouraging. Japan in the meantime is hurrying an army into China and the forces about Tien Tsin may yet be reinforced in time.

PARIS, July 12.—The opinion in general here that the Peking ministers have been massacred and that the Chinese are consulting the facts.

THREE CORNERED FIGHT.

The Women Were Fined $5 and the Man Was Acquitted.

She went over and struck the Province woman in the head with a plank, and then when they mixed and the latter was getting her money's worth, they were separated.

At 6 o'clock, outside, the difficulty was revived, and James Polk, colored, undertook to separate them.

All three were arrested and the two women were fined $5 and costs each, while the man was acquitted in the police court today.

Dead of Consumption.

Oscar Wayne, an inmate of the city hospital, died today from consumption. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

WHEELMAN FALLS.

Lon, son of Officer Tom Potter, fell from his bicycle yesterday and broke his collar bone. Dr. Brooks dressed the injury, which will lay the young man up for several days.

THE PAY TRAIN.

The Illinois Central pay train will leave here on the 20th inst., about 11 a. m. and leave the 21st for the Louisville division.

Directors of the Illinois Central will meet July 18, and in the opinion of influential interests, will increase the dividend to a 6 per cent. basis. Prominent bankers in New York say they think there is no doubt of it. According to official statements the gross earnings for the fiscal year are $37,500,000, being an increase of almost 15 per cent. over the previous year. The net results show that if no extraordinary expenditure for betterments were made 9 per cent could be paid on the stock. The rate of dividend has been 8 per cent for many years.

John F. Wallace, chief engineer of the Illinois Central, delivered the annual address before the American Society of Civil Engineers, which is meeting this year in London, England.

Commencing August 31, the Illinois Central will run a through tourist car from Chicago to Los Angeles and San Francisco every Friday.

QUEER MARRIAGE

ST. LOUIS COUPLE MARRIED BY JUDGE TULLY.

They Are Cousins, and the Bride, Just from Poland, Cannot Speak a Word of English.

Benjamin Ludwig, aged 38, and Esther Ludwig, aged 20, from St. Louis, came over this morning and were married at 9 o'clock at the court house by Judge Tully.

The bride came from Poland three weeks ago to marry the groom, who is her cousin.

She cannot speak English, and her husband acted as interpreter, putting the questions to her in their native tongue, and translating her replies into English for Judge Tully. It is his first marriage and her second.

TEDDY INFORMED

To Senator Wolcott's Speech He Responded in a Most Happy and Effective Vein.

OSTER BAY, N. Y., July 12.—This forenoon Gov. Roosevelt was visited by the chosen committee and notified of his selection for vice president on the Republican ticket.

There was an enthusiastic crowd present at the ceremony, which was at the summer cottage of Mr. Roosevelt, and the event was made a gala one. Senator Wolcott made the notification speech and to him Mr. Roosevelt responded in the happiest vein, making a typical speech and one full of vigor, outlining the principles of the campaign in an aggressive style. The governor was frequently interrupted with applause.

SUIT ON NOTES

T. J. Atkins today, through his attorneys, Bloomfield & Criss, filed suit against Mrs. T. J. Mitchell, widow of the late Thomas M. Mitchell, and administrator of his estate, on three land notes amounting to $700.

The petition also asked that the land, which is situated near Ralghand, this county, is alleged to have been taken by a receiver to be appointed to take charge of it. Attorney Tom Harrison was appointed to represent the non-residents.

SUBMARINE BOATS

Should the submarine boat take the place in naval warfare that some nations expect, one of the chief precautions taken by the world's navies will be an immense increase in the number of balloons, with duly trained staffs to work them, carried by war vessels. The balloons carried by the battleships are of exactly the same material and pattern as those in use in the army, only smaller. They have a use far in advance of any mere long-distance observational purpose, for, though the waka of a submarine boat sink deeply in the water can only be traced with difficulty from such an elevation as that afforded by a ship, both such waka and the boat itself can be seen with absolute and undeviating clearness from a captive balloon. This is the result of a scientific and optical law, and when ship balloons are first put to the practical test in regard to this matter, the results attained were of the most surprising kind. Even when the water is distinctly cloudy, objects of a much smaller kind than a submarine boat, and painted of natural color, could be seen from a balloon with the utmost clearness at a depth of 500 fathoms, or thirty feet, though the surface was rough. No submarine boat could in the daytime get within striking distance of a threatened ship that had a balloon without being observed.

RICHARDS AND WILKERSON HELD TO ANSWER TODAY.

The Case Against the Two Safe Blowers is a Strong One—They Did Not Testify.

George Wilkerson and Charles Richards, the two white men arrested Monday morning early on a charge of blowing Mr. Cal Wagner's safe, at his saloon on South Second street, were presented for preliminary hearing before Judge Sanders in the police court today.

Wilkerson claims to be from New Orleans and Richards from Cairo. The latter seems to have kept watch while the other did the work.

The evidence for the prosecution showed that the men were arrested soon after the explosion by Officers Gourette and Singery and Wilkerson's shirt was wet with perspiration and strong with the fumes of the explosive.

Both men were identified by D. R. Rittell, a merchant on one side of the saloon, and Richards by the Cohen, on the other side. Cohen was disturbed by a noise, supposed to have been the explosion, and saw Richards standing guard at the saloon door.

This afternoon the case was resumed and the defense offered no evidence. Judge Sanders held the defendants to answer and fixed their bonds at $1,500 each, in default of which they went to jail.

The malicious enting case against Sterling Fitzgerald, for cutting Allen Jackson, was this afternoon dismissed. The evidence showed Jackson was the aggressor.

REV. GILBERT DOBBS.

Called in Pastorate of Leading Baptist Church of New Orleans.

The Rev. Gilbert Dobbs, who was pastor of the First Baptist church here a few years ago, has been elected pastor of the Calvary Place Baptist church, New Orleans. This is the leading church of that denomination in the Crescent City, with a large, wealthy and influential membership and congregation, and the post is, therefore, an important one. The election of Dr. Dobbs was by unanimous vote, and followed his presence there for one month as temporary pastor. In addition, the committee charged with the duty of recommending a suitable minister for the pulpit had engaged in extensive correspondence, inquiring as to the character and pastoral ability of Dr. Dobbs, the replies being uniformly eulogistic; hence he was presented and elected with no sort of misgiving.

Dr. Dobbs has been preaching for fourteen years, holding pastorates in Kentucky, Indiana and Virginia, and also a vast amount of evangelistic work. He was married eight years ago to Miss Eula Jones of Brownsville, Tenn.

THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1900

REPUBLICAN TICKET.
For President,
WILLIAM M'KINLEY,
Of Ohio.
For Vice President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
Of New York.

Hill had his wings clipped at Kansas City by Croker and his henchmen, but Hill is back in New York so much "bigger a man" than Croker that the clipping was a blessing in disguise to Hill's waning political standing. New York Democracy will have to accept Hill as a leader to be done high in November.

The Louisville Commercial covers the case when it says: "The last people of Kentucky will watch these trials at Georgetown with great interest. They want to see Goebel's murderer punished, but they do not want to see innocent men broken on the wheel on the testimony of bribe-takers. The Campbell-Crowell-Golden gang is there in force. They are crowding the regular officers of the commonwealth from their places. With the $100,000 reward fund to back them they are confident that they can hang every one of the accused. The honest voters of the state will review their verdict."

Since the 14th of March, 1897, congress has authorized the construction of forty-nine ships, with a total displacement of 245,484 tons. This includes eight battleships of the first class; six armored cruisers of the first class; four monitors and nine protected cruisers. There have been completed and placed in commission, in the same time, a total of thirty-two vessels, with an aggregate displacement of 53,681 tons. This is an unexampled record, and it could only have been accomplished by a Republican administration.

The Republican pluralities in Oregon, as the revised returns came in, continue to increase. The two Republican congressmen-elect lead their free-silver-and-imperialist opponents by 11,500 votes, or 2,800 more than in 1898, and 10,000 more than in 1896. In other words, as the Boston Journal remarks, the imperial issue seems to have been worth 10,000 votes to the Republican party in Oregon.

Charles E. Buel, ex-secretary of the United States special commission to Porto Rico, writes that "under Spanish rule the money of the island was subject to the most extraordinary fluctuations; when the planter needed money to pay his help, and for supplies, the peso would be held at 40 cents in gold. As soon as the money had passed into the hands of the men whom the planter had owed, the value of the same peso declined to 42 cents. This ruinous variation in money has been made to give place to certainty and stability by changing the currency of the island to United States currency. No American need feel ashamed of the course which the United States has pursued in dealing with Porto Rico."

The American claim to unrestricted facilities of trade in China was based on treaty rights, which were about to be ignored when our claim was made and secured.

President McKinley urged that the duties to be levied under the Dingley tariff should "revive and increase manufactures." This has been done, as our wage-earners well know.

Though there is much of the "yellow" in the alleged plot of New York Spaniards to assassinate President McKinley too much care can not be exercised to protect the president's life. There are many cranks abroad, and the country has already lost two executives through such a channel.

Judge Cantrell proposes to ignore all practice, it seems, in the trial of the suspects at Georgetown. He appears to have already forgotten that justice is the foundation and principle of all courts.

Secretary Gage, of the treasury department, has been calling in, from the national banks, public funds, for the purpose of redeeming the old 2 percent bonds that were outstanding to the amount of $25,000,000. In order to do this, the secretary decided to withdraw that sum at twenty-day intervals of $5,000,000 each.

Exports of agricultural products for the fiscal year just ended will exceed $500,000,000. Of American manufactured goods the exports will amount to about $150,000,000. Of the products of our mines, they will reach about $10,000,000. Exports of the products of our forests will amount to $50,000,000.

AND EMBROIDERS.
"Four years ago when Bryan was nominated upon a free-silver platform, Mr. Watterson called from Europe. 'No compromise with dishonor.' Today when Bryan is nominated upon a free silver platform Mr. Watterson again over in double leads swearing his allegiance to the ticket. The gifted editor is not only willing to compromise with dishonor, but is actually bending to embrace it."

NOT A SECOND GOEBEL.

Louisville Post: "Mr. Beckham says if he is not the choice of the convention he will bow his head in submission." This is construed to be an attack on the memory of Mr. Goebel, who, when he found he was not the choice of the convention, refused to bow in submission, but went out and captured some Stone delegates with promises which later he repudiated. Mr. Beckham is evidently falling from grace.

NOW FOR THE REDEMPTION OF KENTUCKY.

Louisville Post: "Until the people of Kentucky have wreathed from the Goebellized Democracy the right to elect their own officers, the nomination of candidates for president and vice president have for them but a secondary interest. Kentucky can live under any government selected by the people of the United States; it will bear its proportion of the burdens of mistakes; it would share in the benefits of wise and economical administration, but first of all, in the face of one time of federal aggression, in the face of another of domestic treason, the people of Kentucky claim the right to elect rulers, and they will exact obedience to those rulers from all men and all parties. . . . The election of the Republican candidates was duly certified by Judge Pryor and by Captain Ellis. The count was correct, the certificate was duly issued. The fact was placed beyond question; Taylor and his associates received the largest number of votes cast for any candidate before the people November 7, 1899."

"On the same day, on the same talots, and through the same precinct officers, the people of Kentucky elected a legislature. That legislature—in which sat unchallenged members from Jefferson, Johnson and Macguffin—put aside the verdict of the people by the aid of the representatives from the very counties in which by decision of the legislature itself, there was no election. . . . Consider that picture, men of Kentucky, and determine what you are going to do about it. It concerns you more directly than any principle of national politics enunciated at Philadelphia or at Kansas City."

"Crimes blot the history of Kentucky, truly, as Mr. Beckham said in his speech. One of these was the assassination of William Goebel. It was a dastardly crime, a cowardly crime, a crime which the state will surely punish."

"But it was only one incident in the greater drama, the first act of which was enacted in the legislature of 1898; the second of which held the stage at Masio hall a year ago; the third act was the election; the fourth act was the contest and the overthrow of the will of the people by the legislature. The final act in the great tragedy of the 'Assassination of Liberty' will be seen by all men next November, and it will have all the elements that make immortal the tragedies of the Greek; Fate, with an unfaltering purpose, bringing just retribution to men who have been false to their country, their faith, their gods. There lies in human society a law which cannot be violated with impunity. The shaft may be for a while withheld, but for that very reason it flies faster and goes more directly home to its mark."

"The great crime against liberty no court but the court of the people can punish. One judicial tribunal after the other has denied to itself the power adequately to deal with these crimes against liberty. Patiently, though at times with scorn, the people have watched these crimes; they abide by them. The last court now swells the great event when the people themselves will arraign the conspirators who stand charged with open rebellion against the people's will."

Chauncey M. Depew was walking down Fifth avenue the other day with a certain politician, who was trying to induce the senator to give him some railroad passes. He was making an impassioned statement of the reasons why his needs should receive the enlightened consideration of Mr. Depew, when an old, tattered beggar interrupted him to get something in his turn from the senator. "Look here," said the politician to the beggar, "you were the other side of the street; this is my side." Mr. Depew laughed and gave the politician the desired passes.

Judge George Clark, of Waco, Texas, leading Democrat of that state, announces that he will not support the Kansas City ticket because he does not believe it to be the choice of the real Democrats of the country. He predicts that McKinley will defeat Bryan by a much larger majority than he did in 1896.

A dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., says that while the cruiser Hingaroona was practicing off the New Hebrides, she lost a torpedo. Three divers attempted to descend to recover it, but they encountered an active submarine volcano. The water below the surface was boiling. The men blew from their ears and noses and their diving suits were injured by the heat.

New York dealers in campaign paraphernalia say the coming struggle between the Republicans and Democrats will far exceed all previous struggles. They predict that the rough rider uniform will especially play a prominent part in the equipment of political clubs and they believe torchlight processions on horseback will be more numerous than ever.

New York merchants say that unless the disturbances in China are soon put down there will be a cotton cloth and a kerosene oil famine in China. The average Chinaman goes clothed in cotton, and the cotton cloth comes from the United States, where shipments of cotton have been held until further orders.

Operating officials of the Santa Fe have decided that all their locomotives in California shall be equipped by October 1 for the use of oil as fuel. The road figures on consuming about 120,000 barrels of oil annually. An expenditure of $25,000 will be made in equipping the locomotives.

Philadelphia broke all records for accidents on the Fourth. Ten dead and about 300 wounded, some severely.

At Joliet, Ill., Frank Schreffer, a prominent citizen, is charged with the murder of his wife by burning her alive. Two weeks ago neighbors in the vicinity of the Schreffer home were aroused by the screams of a woman. Rushing into the house they found Mrs. Schreffer, clasping her baby in her arms, and enveloped in flames. Heroic efforts were made to save the lives of the mother and child, but nothing could be done for the woman, whose body was burned to a crisp. She died a few hours after in great agony. The child is disfigured for life. A sister of the woman charges that Schreffer deliberately saturated his wife's clothes with gasoline and applied the match.

LADY LOUISE TIGHE.

No social event of the century equals in celebrity the ball given in Brussels on the eve of the battle of Waterloo. The last survivor of this famous event has just died at Woodstock, Ireland, and in her last days she often referred to that night of glory and tragedy so graphically described by Thackeray in "Vanity Fair" and by Byron in "Childe Harold." This woman was Lady Louise Tighe, daughter of the duchess of Richmond, by whom the ball was given. It was she who buckled on Wellington's sword ere he left the brilliant ballroom to go out and begin the fight which decided the fate of Europe. Lady Tighe's father, the duke of Richmond, had a residence in Brussels.

near which city the British under Wellington were encamped. On the night of June 16, 1815, the duchess gave a ball in honor of the British officers. Wellington was there. While the ball was in progress a message from Blucher came to Wellington, and about the same time the sound of guns was heard. Wellington, after a few moments of abstraction, gave orders to one of his staff officers, who instantly left the room. Others saw him go, and, one by one, they stole away to their partners, who in many cases never saw their heroes again until their dead bodies were brought in from the bloody battlefield. Wellington was one of the last to leave the ballroom, and ere he departed the lady who had recently died fastened his sword about him.

FIGHTING MINISTER

New Orleans Times-Democrat: The conversation had drifted somehow or other to fighting clergymen. "That reminds me," said a Georgian in the group, "of a story that is told on Dr. McKane. The doctor was a famous anti-bellum character, who lived between Washington and Augusta—a district, by the way, which produced an extraordinary number of men of ability. He was a physician of the good old school, and having also a man of strong religious views, he was in the habit of occasionally preaching in the rural churches. Physically McKane was a giant, and if he failed to convert a sinner by word of mouth, he was not averse to finishing the argument with his fists, so needless to say, his preaching was singularly successful. One Sunday, as the story goes, he drove to a neighboring village for the purpose of holding services, and was met as he descended from the buggy by the local blacksmith, who was the bully of the community. The blacksmith had heard of the doctor's prowess and regarding his presence as a menace to his own prestige, decided not to let him preach. 'Well, stranger, who be y' anyhow?' he asked as a starter, planting himself in the visitor's path. 'My name is McKane,' replied the doctor, 'and I've come to hold a meeting to the church yonder.' 'My name is Bill Williams,' said the blacksmith, 'and I'm here to tell y' that y' can't hold no meeting in this town today.' 'That's something y'd best settle immediately,' said McKane, with perfect coolness, and proceeded to pull off his coat. The blacksmith had the advantage of brute strength, but McKane was a skillful boxer, and after a few swift passes he saw an opening and knocked the man down. The bully got up, raving, and was promptly felled again. The third time McKane stretched his adversary out; he jumped on his chest and began smothering him about the face. 'Hold on,' bellowed the blacksmith, spitting out a couple of teeth. 'I've gotter 'nuff.' 'Do I preach here today?' asked McKane, landing a stiff punch on his nose. 'Yes! yes!' yelled the other, 'preach all y' want to!' 'And will you come and hear me?' continued the doctor, hitting him a terrific lick in the eye. 'Yes! yes! I'll come!' 'All right, brother,' said the fighting parson, rising and wiping his hands. 'My services will begin at 10 sharp.' The blacksmith kept his word and was on the front bench. They say he afterward became a class leader.

STORYTELLER.

As a man entered the picture gallery he attendant tapped him on the shoulder and, pointing to a small ear that followed him, said: "Dogs are not admitted." "That's not my dog," replied the visitor. "But he follows you." "So do you!" replied the old gentleman, sharply.

"Twenty-five dollars for that hat, Mary? That's a frightful price for such a little thing. It's nearly all profit." "The milliner I bought it from may have made a little something on it, but I took up the time of three other milliners for half a day while I was looking around town for it. There's some satisfaction in that."

During a recent visit to Chicago Dr. Robert Ogilvie told how his mother had heard him preach for the first time in his life at Leeds thirty-five years ago, and walked proudly away from the church on his arm. Looking fondly up at him, she said: "I'm not sure, but I understood thy sermon this morning, and I'm not sure I would have believed it if I had, but make sure, lad, I believe in thee."

"In the meantime another patient had died in the barricaded home of the 'healer.' The law thought it was time to interfere, and sent a policeman. 'You are attacking my faith,' he protested, threatening his head out of an upper window. 'I know nothing about your faith,' replied the policeman, 'but I'm going to capture your works.' And the peeler presently pinched the healer. —Chicago Tribune.

An autograph hunter, who was very anxious to obtain the signature of the poet Campbell, adopted the familiar strategy of leaving some across a line in one of his poems, the meaning of which appeared to be obscure, he wrote a short note to the author, asking him to interpret the words in question. He received the following laconic reply: "Sir: In return to your note, I send you my autograph.—Thomas Campbell."

Richard Brinsley Sheridan was one day dining with Lord Thurlow, when his lordship produced some fine Constables, which had been sent him from the Cape of Good Hope. Sheridan, who saw the little emblem with uncommon regret, set his wife to work to get another. Failing in his attempt, however, he turned toward a gentleman seated further down, and said: "Sir, pass me up that decanter; for I must return to Madera, since I cannot double the Cape."

BELIEVES IN WITCHCRAFT.
The Malay has to protect himself with charms.
The Malay is a firm believer in the efficacy of charms. He wears amulets, places written words of magic in houses and sports a tiger's claw as a preservative of disease, says Popular Science. If he is especially primitive and backward, when he enters a forest, he says: "On to the right, all my enemies and assailants! May you not look upon me; let me walk alone!" To elude a storm he says: "The elephants collect, they wallow across the sea; go to the right, go to the left; I break the tempest!" When about to begin an elephant hunt, according to Thompson he uses this charm: "The elephant trumpets; he wallows across the lake. The pot boils the pan boils across the point. Go to the left, go to the right, spirit of grandfather (the elephant), I loose the fingers upon the howling." The Malay believes in witches and witchcraft. There is the bottle imp, the Poling, which feeds on its own blood till the time comes for it to take possession of an enemy. Then there is a horrid thing, the Penanggalan, which possesses women. Frequently it leaves its rightful abode to fly away at night to feed on blood, taking the form of the head and intestines of the person it inhabits in which shape it wanders around. Such beliefs may, perhaps, have their origin in metempsychosis, which in other ways has some foothold among the common people. For instance, elephants and tigers are believed sometimes to be human souls in disguise, and so the Malay addresses them as "grandfather" to allay their wrath and avoid direct reference to them. Crocodiles also are often regarded as sacred, and special charms are used in fishing for them. One such, given by Maxwell, is as follows: "Oh, Dangerous, lotus flower, receive what I send thee. If thou receivest it not, may thy eyes be torn out!"

William J. Bryan will open his second presidential campaign about the middle of August, either at Lincoln or Indianapolis, most probably the latter. At the same time he will receive the on the campaign of his nominal

A levee crew employed him there. And each gave smile for smile. The crew a ripe tomato throw. And hit him on the head. And when the goat was done with him. They picked the goat up and down.

Mr. Gus Thomas, for several years clerk on the Joe Fowler, and subsequently on other Evansville and Paducah boats, has gone with his family to Mt. Vernon, Ind., to reside, being forced to retire on account of ill health.

Captain Nat F. Dorch was in the city yesterday. He was a passenger on the H. W. Bortoff, making the round trip, accompanied by his handsome and accomplished daughter, Miss Lelia, and Miss Marie Williams, all of Nashville. Captain Dorch was a pilot in the Nashville and New Orleans trade way back in the 50's but retired from river life many years ago and has amassed a fortune. He is one of the "big three" commissioners of Nashville, which is quite a lucrative office. During his short stay here he was out in the city a greater portion of the time greeting many of his friends of old ante-bellum days.

The City of Memphis is due from Tennessee river this evening for St. Louis.

It is generally conceded that the fine large side wheel steamer Indiana, being built at Jeffersonville by the Howards, will be one of the finest and best boats ever built at the Howards yards. She has a beautiful cabin, a well shaped and gracefully built hull, big power, spacious deck room, light draught and will not only be a big carrier but very fast.

The Kenton, Captain Billy Edwards master, is due this evening from Trade Water mines with three barges of coal for their yards and boat supply dock here.

The City of Clifton left St. Louis for Tennessee river yesterday at 5 p. m. with sixty round trip people and good freight trip. She will arrive here tomorrow morning.

The Maceabee gave an excursion to night on the Bettie Owen to Metropolis.

A private party of ladies and gentlemen went over to Illinois on the Bettie Owen this morning to spend the day. They will arrive at a basket dinner and have a good time.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although they are abundantly. The trouble arises from inattention; their food is not assimilated, but devoured, by worms. A few doses of WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE will destroy the worms, when the children will begin to thrive at once. Price, 25 cents. For Sale by DuBois & Co.

Excursion to Evansville.

On Sunday, July 15, the Illinois Central railroad company will run a special train to Evansville, leaving Paducah at 7 a. m. and returning leaving Evansville about 10:30 p. m. Fare for the round trip $1.50.

PHILOSOPHICAL PESSIMISMS.

Living the life as we find it is like a starving man eating what is set before him.

The camera takes people as they are and the photographer makes them as they are not.

"How much worse is it for a man to say 'I don't' than to think it and say 'so-so'?"

Many a man works hard for others for a life time and has to show for it but the sore spots where he was kicked.

There is woe and whos, and if woe would only obey whos it would be worth while driving—Milwaukee Journal.

There is nothing so trying to a man's soul as after working hard for another to be kicked for not accomplishing the impossible.

Salvation Army's Sacred Out.

The Salvation Army, for the second time, has failed to get a foothold in Mexico. Mexican laws forbid all religious processions in the streets of cities.

Lavishness of a Young King.

The young king of Spain always insists on having his pockets filled with copper before going for a drive, and scatters the coins among the many beggars who crowd around his carriages.

THOUGHTS ON LIFE.

Curiously little more than another name for hope.

Friendship is love, without either flowers or veil.

He who always is drained by his hair must already be a weakling.

We like slipping, but not falling; our real desire is to be tempted enough.

In a mist the heights can for the most part see each other; but the valleys cannot.

The Jacobins, in realizing their systems of fraternization, always contrived to be the elder brothers.

A little management may often evade resistance, which a vast force might vainly strive to overcome.

The man who will share his wealth with a woman has some love for her; the man who can resolve to share his poverty with her has more.

Since the generosity of persons act from impulse, much more than from principle, men are not good or so bad as we are apt to think them.

Open evil at all events does this good: it keeps good on the alert. When there is no likelihood of an enemy's approaching, the garrison slumbers on their post.

Many of the supposed increase of knowledge have only given a new name, and often a worse, to what was well known before—From Guesses at Truth, by Hare Brothers.

We often live under a cloud, and it is well for us that we should do so. Uninterrupted sunshine would parch our hearts; we want shade and rain to cool and refresh them.

It behooves us to take care that whatever cloud may be spread over us it should be a cloud of witnesses. And every cloud may be such, if we can only look through to the sunshine that broods behind it.

A well regulated course of study will not more weaken the mind than hard exercise will weaken the body, nor will a strong understanding be weighed down by its knowledge, any more than the oak is by its leaves, or than Samson was by his locks.

Nature is mighty. Art is mighty. Artifice is weak. For nature's the work of a mightier power than man. Art is the work of man under the guidance and inspiration of a mightier power. Artifice is the work of mere man, in the imbecility of his mind understanding.

Table Mountain Railway.

Engineering Magazine: The railway located at Table Mountain is an important example of a line 5,280 feet long. It consists of a single fixed rope on which one carriage is drawn to and fro with an endless hauling rope, the driving gear having reversing motion so that the direction of travel of the carrier can be controlled. Commencing at sea level, and following the ground on posts spaced about 300 feet apart, the cable takes a span of 1,500 feet, rising to a projecting rock some 1,450 feet above the starting point. Resting on a support at this point, the cable again takes a span of 1,400 feet to an upper terminal 2,300 feet above the lower one. This ropeway has worked so satisfactorily that it is not only used for the carriage of materials employed in the construction of a reservoir but is at times used for passengers.
